VIRGINIA

CAPITAL - RICHMOND — STATE 1788 (10th)

State Map on Page M-42

James I granted a charter to the Virginia Company in 1606 to colonize Virginia. The first ships left in 1607 and formed the first permanent English settlement in the New World at Jamestown. Captain John Smith provided the strong leadership needed by the fledgling settlement. Through several harsh winters, the colony struggled to stay alive. New supplies and immigrants came each year, with the most crucial being in 1610, when the 65 surviving settlers were about to give up and return to England. In 1612, John Rolfe cultured the first commercial tobacco and later married Pocahontas. In 1618, the Virginia Company granted land to all free settlers and allowed a general assembly to be held. An Indian massacre in 1622 and internal disputes in the colony led James I to revoke the Virginia Company's charter and to make Virginia a royal colony in 1624.

Immigrants arrived nearly every month. By 1700, Virginia had 80,000 persons in the Tidewater area. Settlers began scattering over the coastal plain and the Piedmont Plateau before 1700. Between 1710 and 1740, passes were discovered across the Blue Ridge mountains into the Shenandoah Valley. Emigrants from Pennsylvania and New Jersey began to enter the valley. As early as 1730, there was a heavy immigration of Scotch-Irish, Germans, and Welsh from Pennsylvania into Virginia, most of whom settled in the upper valleys. They brought with them their religions- Presbyterian, Baptist, and Quaker. Methodist churches were established around 1800. By the mid-18th century, Virginia had grown to over 280,000 people.

Between 1750 and 1784, land grants made to the Ohio Company encouraged exploration beyond the Alleghenies. The new area, southeast of the Ohio River, was organized by Virginia in 1775 as the District of West Augusta, though much was ceded to Pennsylvania in 1779. In the 1770's the Wilderness Road across the Cumberland Gap opened up Kentucky. Kentucky County, which would later become the state of Kentucky, was organized in 1776. Virginia was prominent in the Revolutionary War due to its great leaders — Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, Patrick Henry, George Mason, and Richard Henry Lee. Little fighting occurred on Virginian soil until the final years of the war and the final surrender at Yorktown.

In 1784, Virginia ceded its claims north of the Ohio River to the United States. Virginia entered the Union in 1788. Virginia seceded from the Union in 1861. Robert E. Lee was placed in command of the Confederate troops for Virginia, with Richmond as the capital of the Confederacy. The northwestern counties of the state refused to join in the secession and were admitted to the Union in 1863 as the state of West Virginia. Virginia was the central battlefield for the Civil War, with the first major battle at Bull Run (Manassas) and the final surrender at Appomattox. An estimated 155,000 men from Virginia fought for the Confederacy. Virginia was readmitted to the Union in 1870. Foreign-born citizens include Russians, English, Germans, Italians, Greeks, Polish, Czechs, Irish, Austrians, and Hungarians.

Until 1786, the Anglican Church was the state church of Virginia. In accordance with English law, the church kept parish registers of vital statistics. Unfortunately, most of these are no longer in existence. Those that do exist have been photocopied and are in the Virginia State Library, 11th Street at Capitol Square, Richmond, VA 23219. Most have also been transcribed and published. In 1704, all Virginia landowners except those in Lancaster, Northumberland, Westmoreland, Richmond, and Stafford Counties had to pay a Quit Rent to the king for every fifty acres. A Quit Rent list was made in 1704 for all who paid. Statewide registration of vital statistics began in 1912 and is at the Division of Vital Records and Health Services, P.O. Box 1000, Richmond, VA 23208. To verify current fees, call 804-786-6228.

The Archives Division of the Virginia State Library has copies of all existing Virginia birth and death records prior to 1896 and marriage records 1853-1935. Beginning in 1660, a couple could marry by posting a bond with civil authorities or publishing banns at church. Reporting was required after 1780, but was sometimes done before that. Probate records are at the county level with the general court and at the county and circuit superior court. Independent cities have probates at the circuit court clerk's office. Lists of residents are available for some colonial years. Lists for 1624 and 1779 have been published.

Brumbaugh, Gaius Marcus, Maryland Records, Colonial, Revolutionary, County, and Church, from Original Sources (Baltimore 1915, 2 vol.). Includes information from only one graveyard, vol. 1, pp. 263-270, "Tombstone Inscriptions from Original Churchyard of All Saints' Parish, Frederick, Maryland," collected by Ernest Helfenstein in 1914 when the old cemetery was being closed. Reinterrals were made at Mount Olivet. Those from Helfenstein's list which do not reappear at Mt. Olivet have been included in this work with the designation: (Frdk. All Sts.)

Clark, Raymond B., Some forgotten Cemeteries of Frederick County, Maryland," The Maryland and Delaware Genealogist (Washington, D.C., 1961, p13). A list of 13 abandoned cemeteries in the city of Frederick. No inscriptions.

Daughters of the American Revolution, National Society of, Maryland Genealogical Records Committee, various cemetery inscriptions on file with the NSDAR Library in Washington, D.C., in Report Volumes 5, p. 23; vol. 7, pp. 62-63, 69-121, 194-217; vol. 8, pp. 179-182; vol. 9, pp. 110-122; vol. 13, pp. 173-174; vol. 17, pp. 90-98; vol. 27, pp. 71-82, 86-92; vol. 28, pp. 18-26; vol. 30, pp. 228-238, 255; vol. 31, pp. 56-69; vol. 32, pp. 192-206. Very incomplete. Some of these lists emphasize adults only. What often is catalogued as coming from gravestones may be an extract from a family Bible or parish church record and is therefore not comparable to the data included in the present compilation. The following NSDAR readings are arranged alphabetically according to NSDAR title, with cross-reference in parentheses to abbreviations for those cemeteries included in this work:

"Apples Reformed Church Tombstone Records, Thurmont," vol. 7, pp. 76-86, (Thrmt. Apples 47)
"Baptist Church Tombstone Records, between Taneytown and Emmitsburg," vol. 7, p. 69. (Taneyt. Bpt. 86)
"Elias Lutheran Cemetery, Emmitsburg, 1747-1929," vol. 7, pp. 104-121. Passano, q.v., erroneously called this "Bliss Lutheran." (Emtbg. Luth. 39)
"Emmitsburg Presbyterian Cemetery," vol. 7, pp. 96-103. (Emtbg. Presb. 42)
"Evangelical Lutheran Church Tombstone Record, Located in Rear of Evangelical Lutheran Church, Frederick," vol. 30, pp. 228-238. (Frdk. Luth. 197)
"Evangelical Reformed Church, List of Names on Monument in Yard of Trinity Chapel, Frederick," vol. 9, p. 110. Surnames only; no dates. (Frdk. Refd. 199)

and

SURROUNDING COUNTIES:

We usually envision the pioneers as being rather limited in their geographical range, but the records indicate that these people got around quite handily by foot and horseback. If a researcher does not find names that he seeks, it is suggested that he also try the counties immediately surrounding Clermont County, Ohio.
